

ANDREW (BUS)

Serving the Yao in Africa

On his first trip to Malawi in 2002, Bus was warned that Africa would steal his heart. Initially he thought this could never happen to him. Now he knows how true this statement is.

Six years on and he is preparing for long term service in Africa. What draws him there is not the cheap coke nor laid back lifestyle, but the importance of the Gospel for the Yawo people. During his four visits he has been great privileged to see the Yawo people starting to discover their own ways of following Jesus.

It has been quite a long journey to this point, including three years theological study, four years pastoring, and leading two short term Global Xposure trips to Malawi and Mozambique. With each trip, the desire to be involved in cross-cultural ministry has grown.

His great passion is to see local people empowered and disciplined in the Gospel, and local leaders trained, so as to develop a strong Yawo Church.
