

GRAHAM AND PAM

Malawi

Graham and Pam Keen are walking a road of discovery together. Attending several churches over many years, they have been involved in a variety of ministry roles, both as a couple and individually.

They have always had an interest in cross-cultural mission, fostered by visiting mission speakers and encouragement from within their home church. Graham and Pam have spent most of their lives supporting missionaries working overseas and helping them on their return to Australia. But they never envisaged that one day it would be them!

During a trip to Malawi they visited Global Interaction staff and observed firsthand the people the team serves. For them, this experience “de-mystified” the idea of living in an underdeveloped country and deepened their desire to serve as God called them.

On their return to Australia, Graham and Pam were challenged to consider raising funds for one of the projects they visited in Malawi. With further research, they discovered that not only was the team in Malawi needing funds, it was also looking for new team members!

In Malawi, Graham’s role is to provide administrative support to the existing team for up to two years, which allows the longer-term staff to focus on their ministry. Pam works with Graham, but also looks for other opportunities to help staff and their children.
